

From: Chuck Stolt
To: 'microsoft.atr(a)usdoj.gov'
Date: 1/17/02 12:03pm
Subject: antitrust

Microsoft has consistently abused its monopoly position to harm competition. The US government has spent a lot of taxpayer money in order to prove this in a court of law. Now, close the deal and punish Microsoft in a just way. Microsoft is an important company, no doubt, but they cannot be allowed to continue with their current business practices. Allowing them to give software to the schools is not right. Apple has traditionally been in that market and you would effectively be pushing them out of the market. You are playing the way Microsoft plays and that is not right. You must come to a decision which punishes Microsoft. Judge Jackson saw Microsoft for what they were and now it is time for the current judgement.